

Ing. Nikola Schlosserová

My work focuses on natural product research, particularly on the strategic prioritization of bioactive natural molecules within complex mixtures like extracts. By integrating high-content screening data of biological activity with chemical profiles, we use computational approaches to prioritize and analyze their potential modes of action.